INTERESTS OF GREATER WESTERY

Granite Business Would Improve If Stone Were Cut in Town—Falling Casting Scars Workmen—Bijou Theater Dark to Stay—Bradley Gilman Lectures at High School.

Judge Nathan B. Lewis of Kingston and Westery is president of the Seventh regiment, Rhode Island Volunteers association, and presided at the midwinter session in Providence Monday afternoon. After the dinner Judge Lewis referred to many incidents of interest which occurred while the regiment was at the front, and remarks were made by several other members.

Judge Nathan B. Lewis was a corporal in F company, and enlisted Aug. 12, 1862, and was mustered out June 12, 1865. The Seventh was commanded by Zena R. Bliss and participated in the battles: Fredericksburg, Cold Harbor, Siege of Vicksburg, Petersburg, Jackson, Weldon Railroad, Spottsylvania, Poplar Spring Church, North Anna and Hatcher's Run.

Wallace E. Tillinghast of Worcester, who claims to have traveled in an aeroplane of his own invention a distance of at least three hundred miles, and at intervals of one hundred and twenty miles an hour, and carrying two passengers, is coming to Westery. Mr. Tillinghast is a resident of Worcester, Mass., and has a home in Westery. He is a member of the Westery Rotary club and is president of a manufacturing concern, and made frequent visits to Westery for the sale of the products of the company he represented.

Workmen in the employ of C. B. Cottrell's Sons luckily escaped serious injury while handling a large side frame for a jumbo press Tuesday morning. The heavy casting was being loaded upon a truck at the foundry to be conveyed to the machine shop when the chain of the big yard crane parted and the casting fell, three men narrowly escaping from being struck by the falling side frame. The casting was broken and rendered useless. While the men received no bodily injury, the fright and shock was so great that they were unable to do any work for the balance of the day.

There is depression in the stone-cutting business in Westery, for fast as stones are finished the cutters are laid off and no new work is available. The New England Granite works, which usually employ from 250 to 300 stonecutters, has now about thirty at work, and like conditions prevail at the Smith and Newall works. While there is a demand for Westery granite, it is sent away in the rough and manufactured elsewhere. If the Westery granite quarry was cut in Westery, as was the case in former years, Westery would be again in the front rank in the granite business.

Some of the unemployed stonecutters, who are regular residents and taxpayers, are of the opinion that the Board of Trade members of influence who are interested in the granite industry would make an effort to have granite cut here that is now shipped away in the rough local conditions could be materially improved.

The funeral services of Miss Catherine Sullivan were held with a high mass of requiem with Rev. James W. Cunningham celebrant in St. Michael's church Tuesday. There was a large congregation composed of friends of the deceased, including a delegation from the Ladies' auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians. There were many floral tributes. The bearers were Michael Dandy, Joseph Sullivan, John Donohue, John Sullivan, Joseph Murphy and Joseph Sullivan. The deceased was a sister of Miss Joanna Sullivan, who died only a month ago. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, two brothers, Owen and Paul, and four sisters, Nellie, Mae, Agnes and Dorothy Sullivan. She was born in Groton 21 years ago and came to Westery with her parents when four years of age.

The funeral of William P. Barney, who died Sunday at Green Hill, was

JEWETT CITY

Congregational Men's Club Provides Enjoyable Concert by Providence Musicians—Baptist C. E. Society Twenty Years Old.

A concert of a very high order and by talented artists was given in Finn's opera house Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Men's club of the Congregational church. The musicians were from Providence and were Miss Jeanette Ferguson, soprano; James King, baritone; Joseph Alexander, tenor, and G. M. Potter, accompanist. Mrs. Tanner, the contralto expected, was unable to be present because of serious illness, and Miss G. W. Potter of Providence sang in her place. Mrs. Potter has a clear, sweet, high soprano voice, and her singing added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

The programme follows:
PART I.
Piano solo, Polonaise in A....Chopin
Tenor solo, Star of My Soul....Biehoff
Mr. Alexander.
Soprano solo, When the Heart is Young....Miss Ferguson.
Duet, Life's Dream is Over....Acha.
Mr. King and Mr. Alexander.
Baritone solo, The Bandolero....Stuart.
Mr. King.
Soprano solo, La Chanson Provencal.
Del' Agui.
Mrs. Potter.
PART II.
Piano solo, Second Mazurka....Goddard.
Mr. Potter.
Soprano solo, The Flower Girl....Bevernani.
Miss Ferguson.
Tenor solo, Because I Love You.
Dear....Hawley.
Soprano solo, Waiting....Millard.
Mrs. Potter.
Baritone solo—
a. Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes.
b. I Fear No Fox.
Mr. King.
Quartette, Good Night, Beloved....Pinsuti.
Miss Ferguson, Mrs. Potter and King.
The participants were warmly applauded for their excellent work and the pleasure which they gave. The committee in charge included E. F. Burleson, Charles McKay and F. S.

Funeral of Benjamin Adams.

Charles H. Dawley and Daniel Webster were in Westery Tuesday attending the funeral of Benjamin Adams, who died at his home Sunday. Mr. Adams was well known here in the village. He was 75 years old and is survived by his wife, one son and one daughter.

Sheriff Wickwire left town Tuesday attending for Hartford, where he is attending court as juror.

Electric Lights for Library.

The Cragin Memorial library is to be lighted by electricity. Dr. E. B. Cragin, the donor, is to have the wiring done, and Thomas Chantler of the Electric Light company has generously agreed to furnish light for ten years gratuitously.

Mr. Whitney and men of Middletown have arrived in town and will commence the work of wiring and putting up the lights in the borough, also library, stores, etc.

Buying "Fake" Antiques.

Says Consul Blake of Dunfermline, Scotland: "The United States is reputed by the well informed to harbor more 'artistic atrocities' than any other country in the world. Christmas decorations and decorated snuff and patch boxes are being most extensively collected by Americans. These and other such snuff as articles of vertu are manufactured by dextrous copyists, and are readily procurable by the grow. No one not possessing knowledge of the subject, great experience and discrimination should ever allow himself to be tempted to purchase miniatures unless he is content to possess a cabinet of forgeries. Color prints are almost as difficult to judge as miniatures and snuffboxes, since in the past they have been very legitimately and sometimes very beautifully copied. But many of these fine reproductions, which originally were only intended as such, have been converted into 'antiques' to be sold to the inexperienced at much enhanced prices. It may, therefore, safely be said that the authority of those who know that genuine old prints and engravings are never found to be on the bargain counter by the amateur collector.

The collection of china, likewise, must inevitably lead the novice to an even more hopeless plight. Genuine examples of Dresden, Chelsea, Worcester or Bow are worth more than their weight in gold; yet what one may fondly imagine to be a convincing piece, with its refined decoration and simple gliding, bearing the golden anchor, is not a bit of old Chelsea, but a 'fake' made by well known firms on the continent. Only the untutored now put any reliance in 'old marks'. They are meaningless and are freely applied to modern copies with open and notorious forgery.

"With respect to pewter, the love for which did not abate itself until long after most of it had disappeared in the melting pot, it might safely be said that 99 per cent. of all one could find through England and Scotland has been made within the last ten years."

drawing a sled, the little figures representing Peary and Cook and the Esquimaux and the Christmas tree was clearly seen waving from the top of the pole. The water effect was gained by the use of mirrors. The favors of the afternoon were sprays of hemlock. The recent extended Christmas greetings in the form of pretty cards bearing a spray of painted hemlock with the Christmas greeting in letters of gilt.

The hostesses were Mrs. J. B. Kent, Mrs. C. M. Fenner, Mrs. Bertha Brewster, Mrs. F. J. Daniels, Miss Harriet Brown and Mrs. George E. Elliott.

City Notes.

Owing to illness in the family of Mrs. W. J. Bartlett the meeting of the Ladies' Social club will be held in the Congregational gymnasium this afternoon instead of at the home of Mrs. Bartlett.

Judge E. M. Warner conducted the written examination for the members of the teachers' training class held in the Congregational gymnasium Tuesday evening. This class, which was composed of the Sunday school teachers in the Baptist, Methodist and Congregational Sunday schools, had the privilege of attending a course of twelve lectures given by Mr. Ray this fall and early winter. Much interest was taken in the class and all members felt much helped in that line of work.

Mrs. Helen Willey has returned from a few days' visit with Miss Janette Morrison in Boston.

Miss Mary Merriam has returned from a visit with her brother, Henry Merriam, and Mrs. Merriam in Boston.

Mrs. G. Harold Gilpatrick and her two children have returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Uxbridge, Mass.

George Lewis was in Boston on Tuesday.

Mr. C. M. Green was in Hartford Tuesday and will remain for a few days.

Frank Leonard of Philadelphia has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Leonard in South Main street.

Miss Josephine Clarke of New Boston has been the guest of Miss Mary Johnson in Grove street.

C. K. Shaw and F. R. Gilpatrick have been recent Worcester visitors.

Making Christmas Wreaths.

The ladies of the Second Congregational church are busy making Christmas wreaths at the home of Miss S. Elizabeth Clarke, president of the Ladies' Social Circle.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Smith have returned from a visit with their son, Mr. Herbert Smith, and Mrs. Smith at Lynn.

J. G. Johnson has been in Boston.

Mrs. G. E. Shaw, Mrs. S. M. Wheeler, Sylvia and Elizabeth Wheeler have been recent visitors in Boston.

The ladies' boys' and men's gymnasium classes have resumed weekly meetings in the afternoon at the gymnasium. The new physical instructor, Mr. Wood, gave each class a lesson this week.

LEONARD, the social committee of the Men's club.

The concert was of rare excellence, for seldom have better musicians visited Jewett City.

Damage by Wind and Rain.

A severe rain and wind storm raged all Monday night in Jewett City, causing considerable damage to the roads, windows and the Monday's washings. The rainfall in Jewett City as shown by Dr. S. H. Holmes' gauge was one and three-quarters inches. At Captain Culver's on Stone Hill it was one and one-tenth inches, and at Rev. Eli Dewhurst's in Voluntown it was two and one-quarter inches.

Two Decades of Successful Organization.

The Baptist Christian Endeavor society will celebrate its twentieth anniversary on Thursday evening in the vestry. Among the speakers will be Charles Edw. Prior of Hartford, who was the first president of the organization.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Seniors Increase Fund for Washington Trip by Giving Pleading Play—Borough Meeting Votes Three Mill Tax.

There was a large attendance at St. Edward's hall Tuesday night to witness the four-act rural drama, Valley Farm, by the senior class of Washington. A large sum was realized and will be used toward defraying the expenses of the senior class to Washington in the spring. The play was well cast and the various players acted with ability. The cast of characters follows: Harold Rutledge, Gilbert Wagner; Perry Deane, Harold Butterfield; David Hilbreth, Arthur Melbourne; Silas Holcomb, Robert Desmond; Asaiah Keop, Henry Homingway; Jennings, Edward Newton; Hetty Holcomb, Miss Lillian Welch; Isabel Carney, Miss Blanche Ruck; Ruthen school, Miss Mary Willey; Alvira Holcomb, Miss Marjorie Eaton; Lily Ann Tucker, Miss Blanche Barlow; Verena, Miss Mae Chandler.

Miss Preston Resigns.

Miss Gladys Preston has resigned as teacher in the primary school in Staffordville on account of the death of her mother.

May Be Transferred.

Miss Josie Newell, who has been teaching the school in the Fourteenth district this term, will probably be transferred to the school in Oranville at the beginning of next term. This will leave a vacancy in the Crow Hill school.
